What is package-lock.json?

Package-lock.json

- Package-lock.json is automatically generated for any operation where npm modifies the node_modules tree or package.json
- Describes the exact tree that was built, so that subsequent installations can build identical trees, regardless of dependency updates
- It allows us to control the versioning of dependencies.
- Ensures deployments and continuous integration install exactly the same dependencies.
- It is recommended to upload this file to the GitHub repository.
